

I, Kim Dotcom, Businessman of Queenstown, New Zealand affirm;

1. I am the subject of an indictment for alleged copyright infringement brought by the United States government against me. I suspect that one of the reasons why I have been indicted with novel charges was my support for Wikileaks and Julian Assange.

2. I have been defending myself and my family for the last 7 years.

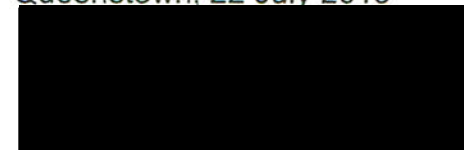

3. My case is currently before the Supreme Court in New Zealand. I have been the subject of unlawful acts of US government agencies supported and facilitated by the New Zealand Police and the security apparatus in New Zealand.

4. I know Suzette Marie Dawson who has been closely involved in the political party that I have founded in New Zealand (Internet Party of New Zealand) and in the defence and support of Wikileaks, Julian Assange and Edward Snowden.

5. Numerous people have been directly and indirectly affected by the US and NZ operations against me and others. Some of the methods of extrajudicial targeting Ms Dawson has reported experiencing reflect my own. In December 2018 an official State Services Commission report confirmed that multiple New Zealand government agencies were involved in engaging spies to target members of multiple political groups including associates of our political party.

6. Domestic and international intelligence agencies involved in the political persecution of New Zealand residents and citizens for their support of Wikileaks operate on New Zealand soil with impunity and meaningful redress is either extremely difficult if not impossible to attain.
